CORNELIA RAUBAL · PRESS MATERIAL

Standard biography

Cornelia is a former CEO, leadership adviser and speaker. She spent more than twenty years in the male-dominated international steel industry, rising to lead a business with over US$250 million in annual revenue, and has spent 13 years running her own business. She has been through promotion, salary negotiation, boardroom leadership and redundancy.

Today, as founder of Craftport Consulting, she works one-to-one with capable leaders facing situations that don't come with a playbook. She has spoken for the NHS, the Fraud Women's Network (as a returning speaker), US summits and others, and appeared on Radio Bath. She is known for honest, grounded talks about what leadership actually feels like.

© 2026 Cornelia Raubal. Reproduction permitted for editorial use with attribution.
More press material, photographs and contact details at the press page of Cornelia's website.